Bye-Bye 'Possum Trot—or Will It Come Our Way?

Editor The Star: It was with regret that I read the announcement of the closing of the Reader Railroad. The 'Possum Trot Line was said to be the last steam-powered passenger carrier in the United States.

While visiting friends in New York this Summer I had the opportunity to ride on the old-fashioned passenger train from Cooperstown to Millford, N.Y. I thought you might be interested in this so I'm enclosing a leaflet which gives detailed information about the Cooperstown & Charlotte Valley steam railway.

Taking this trip into the Past was a very enjoyable experience for my friends and myself. It is a shame that some tourists and local people will no longer be able to take excursion trips on the Reader Railroad.

LINDA SCROGGINS

The 'Possum Trot Line, operated by courageous railroad buffs headquartered in Shreveport, kept barely afloat financially by handling freight shipments from the Berry asphalt plant at Waterloo and running excursions trips between Reader and Waterloo. But the closing of the Berry plant compelled the railroad operators to ask the Interstate Commerce Commission for permission to abandon the line.

The appeal of steam-powered locomotives reaches all classes of people. As a boy I watched the short-stroke steam locomotives designed for mountain runs as they labored up the Wilkes-Barre, Pa., through Truckville and Harvey's Lake to the end of the branch line at Ricketts. Once my father, W. O. Washburn, and I were invited by the Lehigh Valley Railroad division superintendent to travel the same route on a motorized handcar, a frightening experience battling heavy grades and crossing wooden trestles that spanned the many ravines which occur in mountain travel.

Now the steam locomotives are gone and even the tracks have been taken up on the Wilkes-Barre-Ricketts route.

The 'Possum Trot Line is a relic from the old days of lumber-hauling on tracks and those days are inexorably sliding away. The August issue of Growth, a house organ magazine published by Georgia-Pacific, reports:

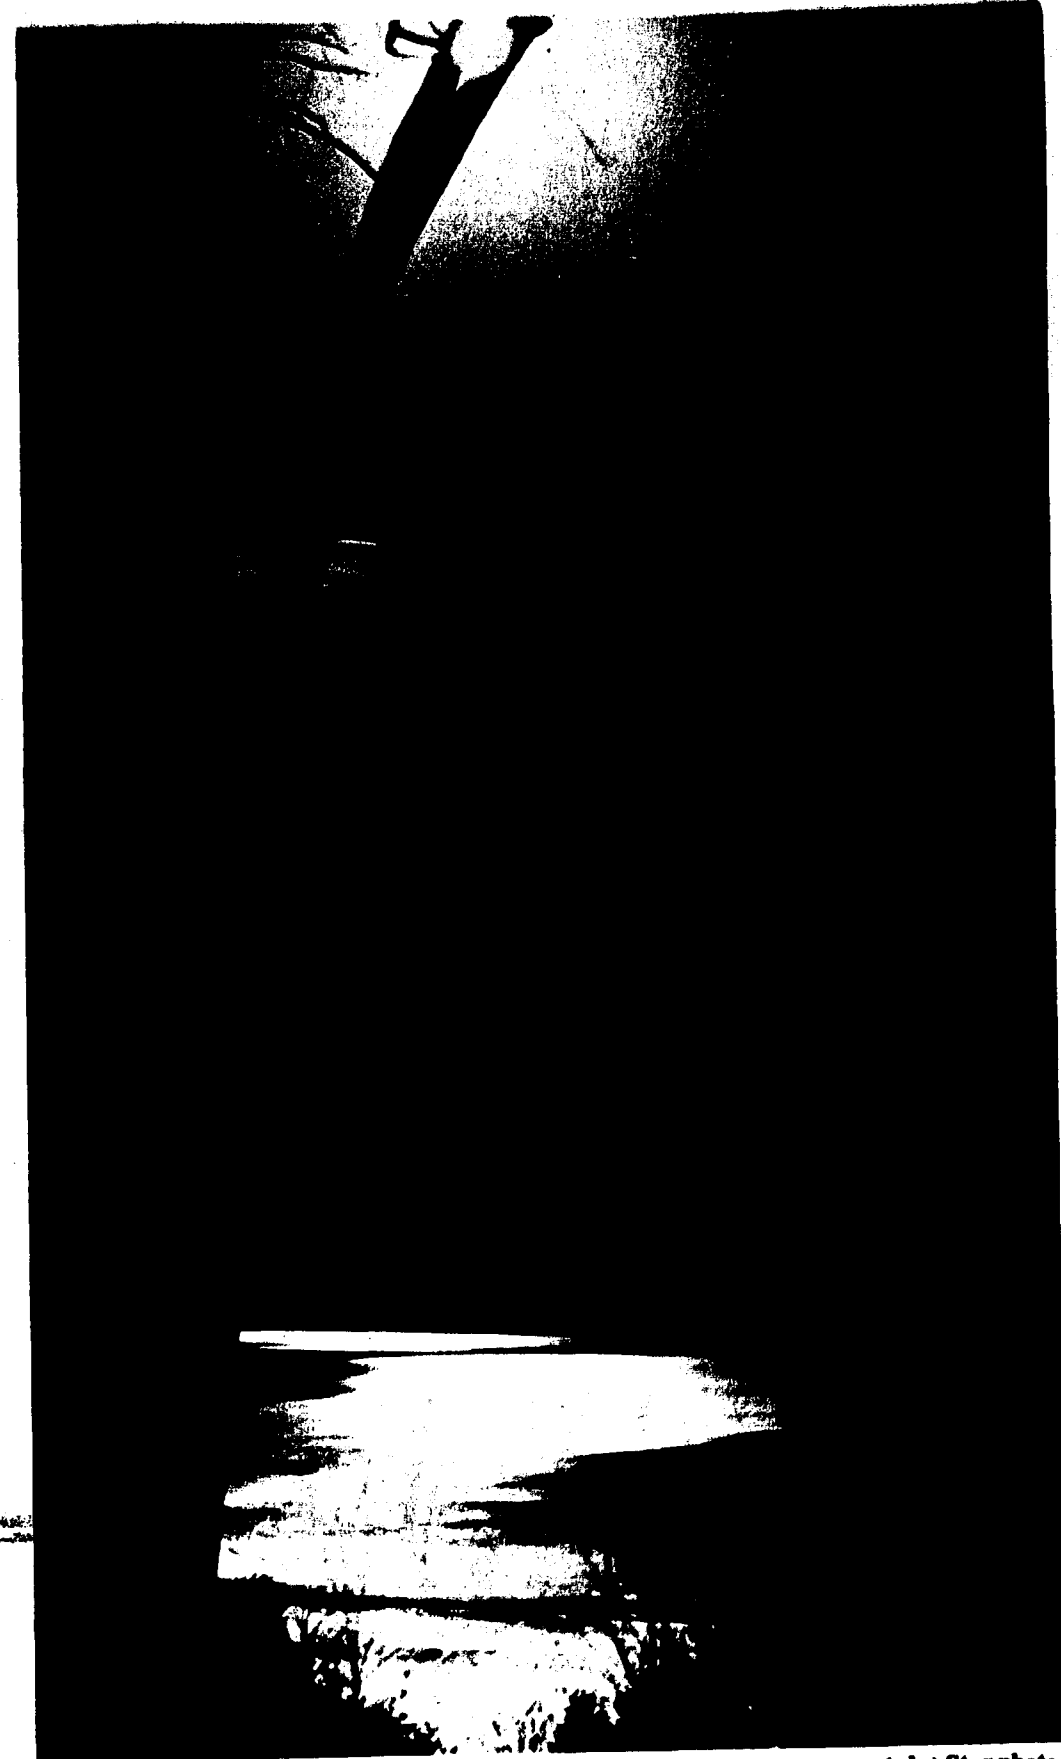

"The Ashley, Drew & Northern Railway still operates out of the past in Arkansas carrying logs and goods for G-P over a 42-mile haul, just as it has for 60 years. In fact, the main street at Crossett, Ark., is its original baseline and the A.D. & N. has a legend of the 'Headless Brakeman' to perpetuate its romance."

Unromantic but more efficient highway trucks are spelling the doom of all rail logging operations, Georgia-Pacific reports.

Which reminds me that when I came to Hope in 1929 the old Hope Lumber Co. had a steam logging railroad from the mill to the woods. Even then Talbot Field, Sr., company manager, who took me on a tour of the road, said building the rail line was a mistake because trucks could operate more efficiently.

About the 'Possum Trot Line—Pod Rogers, our circulation manager, had a promotional idea and the two of us went to Little Rock to see whether state officials would be interested in helping set up the old Reader engines and cars on a different route.

Nothing definite came of it, but Rogers had the idea of installing one steam passenger train for excursions on the present Missouri Pacific freight route from Hope to Nashville. Running into the foothills of the mountains it would offer a more diversified and interesting view

Russia expected to beef up Mediterranean force

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon officials predict the Soviet Union will send helicopter carriers and more intelligence-gathering ships into the Mediterranean to make up for the forced withdrawal of Russian reconnaissance planes from Egypt.

TU16 reconnaissance bombers flying from Egyptian bases had been used by the Russians to keep watch on movements of the U.S. 6th Fleet in the Mediterranean. These planes reportedly returned to Russia several weeks ago after Egyptian President Anwar Sadat ordered Soviet advisers and technicians out of his country. Most of an estimated 15,000 to 18,000 Russian military men then in Egypt are reported to have left. But the Soviet navy still is using three Egyptian ports.

Pentagon intelligence authorities say the Russians still are adjusting to changes and the possibility that the Soviet navy eventually may have to move its base of Mediterranean operations.

"Reconnaissance will be a problem for them now," said one Pentagon expert.

To deal with this problem, officials said, the Russians probably will augment the 50 or so Soviet naval vessels in the Mediterranean with one or both of the Soviet Union's helicopter carriers, the Moskva and the Leningrad. Choppers from these vessels could then patrol in sight of U.S. warships.

The Moskva and Leningrad normally are based in the Black Sea.

In addition to helicopters, Pentagon officials said, the Soviet navy may add to the four or five AGI intelligence ships usually in the Mediterranean. AGIs, which look much like trawlers, are equipped with sophisticated electronic gear for surveillance and monitoring radio traffic.

Senior U.S. naval officials say Syria is about the only country around the rim of the Mediterranean which might provide port facilities to the Russian navy if it finally is ousted from Egypt. But while Syria has received considerable military aid from Russia, the Syrian government is said to be none too eager to provide naval bases for the Soviet Union.

Sen. McClellan hits McGovern's tax plan

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., said Monday that some of Sen. George S. McGovern's tax reform proposals "go entirely too far."

McClellan said he specifically was opposed to the plan by the Democratic presidential nominee for the elimination of the tax exempt status of municipal bonds and elimination of capital gains.

The senator, interviewed for a television program taped for showing next Sunday, said he did not agree with the McGovern platform as a whole.

The senator said he had voted a straight Democratic ticket all his life and would do so in the November general election. But he said McGovern's appraisal that he had an uphill fight in the South was a correct assessment in Arkansas.

Olympic village is raided by guerrillas

MUNICH (AP) — Arab terrorists armed with submachine guns broke into the Olympic village today, killed two Israelis and held 13 more Israelis hostage in their living quarters.

Bulletin

MUNICH (AP)—The 20th Olympic Games will be suspended this afternoon and a memorial service held Wednesday morning for two Israelis killed in a terrorist raid on the Olympic Village.

A joint announcement by Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee, and Willi Daum, president of the Olympic Organizing Committee, was announced at a news conference.

The Arabs, who had boxes of explosives, threatened to kill all the hostages unless 200 Arab terrorists held in Israel were released.

They first set a deadline of noon—7 a.m. EDT. Later a West German spokesman said an extension of the deadline was achieved in negotiations between the terrorists and Mohammed Chait, head of the Arab League office at Bonn, who had rushed to Munich.

The Olympics, founded to foster international understanding, were thrown into balance. After an emergency Cabinet meeting, Israel asked West Germany to halt the games, reliable sources reported. But the games went on, for the time being at least.

Chancellor Willy Brandt called a meeting of the West German Cabinet, then flew to Munich from Bonn to supervise in the negotiations. Police surrounded the Israeli building and negotiated with the terrorists.

The raid, a daring and apparently well-planned operation, was carried out by about five men with blackened faces. They climbed over the fence surrounding the village and made straight for the building, also occupied by the teams of Uruguay and Hong Kong.

The terrorists tossed a paper out of a window of the Israeli quarters. It bore the title "Communique" and listed five points of an ultimatum:

1. West Germany must declare itself prepared to bring the Israeli hostages to a to be specified by the "revolutionary forces" inside the Olympic village.

2. West Germany must provide the guerrillas with three airplanes. The Israelis would be divided into three groups and placed aboard each of the planes. After the first plane left, the other planes would in succession leave as soon as word was received that the previous one had reached the as-yet undisclosed destination.

3. Any attempt to interfere with the operation would result in the killing of the hostages. West Germany would bear full responsibility.

4. The ultimatum deadline would run out within three hours.

5. In the event the ultimatum is not heeded, orders would be given "to carry out revolutionary and just force in order to give the war chiefs of the Israeli war machine a hard lesson."

Dr. Manfred Schreiber, the Munich chief of police, told a news conference the West German government offered the terrorists an unlimited sum of money to call off their siege.

The police also offered to send in substitute hostages if the Arabs would release the Israeli athletes.

Schreiber said the Arabs refused.

Officials said one of the dead men was the team's wrestling trainer, Moshe Weinberg, 32, a former Israeli champion.

The identity of the second Israeli killed could not be learned immediately, but he was believed to have been a judge or a referee.

Radio communication was opened between Munich and Jerusalem, and Premier Golda Meir met with her cabinet in the Israeli capital.

The Bavarian Interior Ministry said there were five terrorists and that negotiations with them were "very, very difficult."

Congress prepares to vote on cash award for deaths

WASHINGTON (AP) — Back at work after a two-week break, the Senate prepared today to vote on granting a cash award to families of policemen and firemen killed on duty, while the House was set to decide on financing the antipoverty program. Returning following the recess for the Republican National Convention and Labor Day, senators were scheduled to vote on a bill to provide $50,000 tax-free for the family of any policeman, fireman or other public safety officer killed in the line of duty.

House members slated action today on a compromise bill authorizing $4.8 billion for a two-year extension of the antipoverty program. Congressional leaders are shooting for adjournment by the end of the month, but it is likely the session will spill over into October because of a number of controversial issues still to be resolved.

The first measure to be voted on by the Senate provides, reactive to Jan. 1, 1967, for a $50,000 federal payment to the widow or other dependents of public safety officers killed while on duty.

In addition to policemen and firemen, this would include prison guards, national guardsmen and members of the armed forces assigned to maintain civil peace.

An almost-unbroken rise in police killings in the last decade led the administration to request the legislation.

Contempt appeal under advisement

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The attorney for a Texarkana, Tex., newspaper editor cited for contempt of court claimed Monday that a judge's order to prevent the publication of a verdict in a criminal case violated the constitutional guarantee of freedom of speech and press.

Arguing before the Arkansas Supreme Court, attorney G. William Lavender of Texarkana said a "simple, accurate" publication of a verdict does not violate the concept of fair and impartial trial.

Lavender represented Harry G. Wood, executive editor of the Texarkana Gazette and News, in Wood's appeal of a contempt citation for ignoring the order of Circuit Court Judge John W. Goodson and printing a story containing the second-degree rape conviction of Eugene E. Sumler of Texarkana on Feb. 16.

Goodson said at the time he issued the order that he wanted to avoid prejudicing the trial of a related case that was getting underway in his Texarkana, Ark., court.

The judge had said he thought that in this particular case that the Sixth Amendment guarantee of a fair trial took precedence over the First Amendment guarantee of freedom of speech and press.

Goodson fined Wood $250 and sentenced him to 60 days in jail on the contempt conviction. He suspended all the penalty.

The Supreme Court took the case under advisement after hearing Monday's oral arguments. The court was expected to hand down a decision later this month.

Representing the state, Asst. Atty. Gen. Fred H. Harrison told the court that a "substantive evil" was present in the publication of the verdict. He said it might have prevented the defendant in the related case from having an impartial jury.

Harrison said Goodson's order against the verdict publication was not permanent and was confined to the next morning's edition of Wood's newspaper. Lavender, however, said any restriction "for no matter how long" violated the First Amendment.

Lavender said that while the Sumler verdict was read in open court and the courtroom was "fairly crowded," Goodson did not consider the verdict to be public information.

Harrison said that Goodson's territorial jurisdiction was sufficient to issue a warrant for Wood's arrest although the editor lives on the Texas side of Texarkana and Goodson is judge on the Arkansas side.

Wood also was fined $100 plus $45.45 court costs on another contempt charge for failing, on the advice of counsel, to appear March 7 to answer the first contempt citation. Goodson did not suspend this penalty.

Plea for more jobs called for in speech by McGovern

SEATTLE (AP) — Sen. George McGovern, proclaiming his spirit revived and his hopes high after a boisterous welcome to the Pacific Northwest, called today for federal help to create 25,000 new jobs at the Boeing Co. by providing cleaner and quieter engines for commercial jets.

McGovern, who voted against the Nixon administration's proposal for a federally subsidized supersonic transport to be built largely by Boeing, said the new program could be financed from only "a small share" of $9 billion in recently granted corporate tax relief.

"The cleaner engine would also improve the environment," the Democratic presidential nominee said in remarks prepared for a visit to a food distribution warehouse set up to feed unemployed persons here, many from Boeing.

More than 5,000 cheering supporters greeted McGovern outside his downtown Seattle hotel Monday night after his arrival from enthusiastic receptions at Labor Day rallies and picnics in Ohio and California.

"My spirit is revived, my hopes are high," McGovern told the predominantly youthful crowds, declaring that though polls show him far behind, "I'm ready for the uphill fight against Richard Nixon and I think we're going to win that fight."

As in his other speeches earlier Monday, the crowd especially cheered McGovern's increasingly aggressive attacks on President Nixon and his most prominent Democratic backer, former Texas Gov. John B. Connally.

At every stop — Barberton and Chippewa Lake, Ohio, and Pleasanton, Calif. — McGovern lit into Nixon's Labor Day statement that the Nov. 7 election pits advocates of a "well-fare ethic" with advocates of a "work ethic" such as himself.

"Mr. Nixon is for the work ethic on Labor Day but he's for unemployment the rest of the year," the Democratic nominee told a predominantly youthful crowd of 2,000 at a labor-sponsored fair at Pleasanton.

Later, in an interview with local television reporters, McGovern linked Connally with AFL-CIO President George Meany, who is sitting out the election while attacking both President Nixon and McGovern.

"I don't think that either Mr. Meany or Mr. Connally or others who usually vote Democratic, but this year have taken a walk, I don't think they're going to decide the election," McGovern said.

He criticized Meany's statement that he is an "apologist" for the Communist bloc as "total nonsense" and said "I don't think the American people believe it."

Main stretch of campaign is underway

WASHINGTON (AP) — Both President Nixon and challenger George S. McGovern appeared relaxed and confident today as they faced the main stretch in their presidential campaigns.

Nixon, who was in San Clemente, Calif., for the Labor Day holiday, planned to travel to San Francisco today to meet with his Citizens Advisory Committee on Environmental Quality. He was to fly to Washington afterward.

McGovern carried his Democratic campaign into Seattle, Portland, Ore., and Los Angeles, while his running mate, Sargent Shriver, was in Boston and planned other stops at Portland, Maine; Springfield, Mass., and Albany, N.Y.

Labor Day is the traditional starting time for the presidential campaign which ends with the election on Nov. 7, although the campaigning actually started much earlier.

Nixon's trip to San Francisco was described as non-political, and there were no public appearances planned. He was to meet aboard a ferryboat with the environmental group to discuss a proposal for a Golden Gate National Recreation Area in California.

In Seattle, McGovern urged federal help to create 25,000 jobs at the Boeing Co., whose aircraft production operations

'Mr. Andre' being held

NEW YORK (AP) — The mysterious "Mr. Andre," an alleged kingpin of the Latin American connection, was being held without bail today after his long-awaited extradition and arraignment for narcotics smuggling.

Judge Lee Peter Gagliardi ordered him held without bail for a hearing later this week. The government had asked that bail be set at $1.5 million came the first man in Olympic history to win seven gold medals, held a news conference as scheduled this morning without a security guard. But afterward he was moved out of the village to a downtown hotel as a safety precaution.

The teams from Hong Kong and Uruguay are quartered in the same building with the Israelis, and a number of those athletes and officials were reported in their rooms. The Arabs, after establishing their identity, reportedly told them they could go, but Olympic security officials asked them to remain in their quarters.

Bulletin

MUNICH (AP) — The entire Egyptian Olympic team flew home from the games today and a spokesman was quoted as saying all the Arab delegations might pull out.

Early today Palestinian raiders seized the Israeli team's quarters, killed one or two men and held others as hostages.

A German postman who left the village when he went off duty at 4:30 a.m. told police he saw "two groups of four or five men each" jumping over the fence.

At the first word of the attack, police swarmed over the village, sealed off the area and began negotiations with the Arabs.

The Palestine guerrilla organizations in Beirut, the capital of Lebanon, were silent for the moment.

However, Egypt's Middle East News Agency reported from Bonn that the new Palestinian guerrilla group known as Black September claimed responsibility for the attack. The organization was formed in late 1971, assassinated Premier Wasfi Tell of Jordan soon after and in May hijacked a Belgian airliner to Tel Aviv.

The list of imprisoned terrorists whose freedom was demanded was reported to be much the same as one handed the Israelis after the hijacked Belgian plane landed in May. That time, however, Israeli commandos got aboard the plane in disguise and killed or captured the hijackers.

The West German government expressed shock and dismay.

"This violation of Olympic peace is an abhorrent crime," said a government spokesman. He added that the government hoped the terrorists would be seized quickly and their hostages released.

'Pet' almost killed by neglect

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Pal, a 10-year-old palomino horse once the pride and joy of a teen-age girl, almost starved to death after his young mistress rejected him for a different love.

When the animal was rescued by the Broward County Humane Society, workers had to suspend a belly sling from a tree so Pal could stand up. His ribs almost penetrated his flanks.

Lyle Benjamin, director of the Humane Society, said the horse was neglected because his 16-year-old owner "reached the age where boys and cars were more important."

Pal was pastured at a boarding stable and his mistress was supposed to feed him oats and hay, Benjamin said. But she was preoccupied.

"Pasturing in Florida won't support livestock without regular feedings," said Kelly McGuire, public relations officer for the shelter.

Accidents reported

A one-vehicle accident occurred at noon Monday on State Highway 29 11 miles south of Hope.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Jaggi of Shreveport, La., suffered minor injuries when Jaggi, driver of the car, lost control of the vehicle on the slick pavement, according to State Trooper Robert Neel. The car turned over on the left side of the highway he said. The Jaggis were taken to Hempstead County Memorial Hospital where they were treated for cuts and bruises.

At 12:30 p.m. another vehicle, driven by Charles Force of Spring Hill, slowed down upon approaching the Jaggi wreck, and was struck from the rear by another vehicle. Force and his wife were taken to Hempstead County Memorial Hospital where they were treated and released.

'Caveman' will emerge

DEL RIO, Tex. (AP) — French scientist Michel Siffre was due to emerge today from more than six months of self-imposed isolation in Midnight Cave to tell the world what he achieved.

The reunion with his pretty 20-year-old wife, Nathalie, and the four members of his all-French expedition, was set for 11 a.m. (CDT).

Some of those present for the emergence had driven the 50 miles from Del Rio, jolting the last 20 miles over a rough dirt track, then climbing the limestone rocks on foot to the base camp. A few were ferried in by helicopter to this lonely spot, lost in the vast open reaches of the Edwards Plateau, not far from the Mexican border.

Siffre, 33, had spruced up and shaved off his beard before the public reunion with his wife. Nathalie, who saw her husband for the first time since the experiment began when she went down into the cave a week ago, had a new hair-do.

It was Feb. 14 and St. Valentine's Day when Siffre kissed his mother and his bride of one year goodbye and went down a swaying ladder to the cave that was to be his home for the next 205 days.

He aimed to prove that man, when cut off from contact with global time, can adapt his life easily from a daily cycle of 24 hours to one of 48. Throughout, his only contact with the world was by a field telephone rigged to his base camp. He had no watch, no mail, no newspapers, no radio, no means of telling time. And he was on his own.

The adaptation of Siffre's body to the longer cycle was slow business and took months to achieve. But towards the end of his stay underground, expedition members reported he was close to the goal. His longest waking stretch was 36 hours; his longest sleep was 17 hours.

Siffre's experiment was backed by the French Speleological Institute, the French Defense Ministry and NASA (National Aeronautics and Space Administration). American business firms loaned valuable computer equipment and the Marriott Corp. of Washington provided him with pre-cooked frozen food identical with that used in the Apollo 16 moon mission.

But the time experiment was not all.

Through much of the period he was in the cave, Siffre was linked through electronic monitoring equipment to the expedition's laboratory tent, where a round-the-clock watch was kept by his four companions—Jacques Chabert, 30, of Barbizon, Gerard Cappa, 28, Raymond Valente, 23, and Jean-Pierre Maison, who are all from Nice.

—His body core temperature was recorded every five minutes for a total of 4,920 hours.

—His heart rate was noted continuously for 160 days.

—His sleep stages were studied by electro-encephalography during 140 nights. He couldn't flutter an eyelid without it being noted above.

—The precise nutrient composition of the foods fed to him were correlated with the results of his body wastes analysis.

—More than 10,000 physiological and psychological tests were conducted.

Favorite Dove Recipes

By JAMES E. MILLER

Extension Wildlife Specialist

Doves should be cleaned and put on ice as soon as possible after being killed. Many hunters make the mistake of killing doves, carrying them around all afternoon in their hunting vests with temperatures in the 70's and 80's then carrying them in and finally cleaning them some 5 or 6 hours after they were killed. Doves handled in this manner can seldom be cooked into an epicurean delight no matter how skillful the cook, and they usually end up being thrown to the dogs with the hunter blaming his wife or saying to himself that doves are just not good to eat.

I always try to take an ice chest and some plastic bags with me when I go dove hunting. The chest serves a double purpose of keeping some water or soft drinks cool and for keeping the cleaned doves cool until they can be more properly handled at home. I usually try to keep the doves as cool as possible while hunting, such as spreading them out in the shade rather than piling them in the back of my hunting coat or vest. Then after I have my limit, I try to find a waterhole or branch and sit down with a plastic bag to clean my doves. The waterhole or branch is to wash my hands after I have finished cleaning the doves. Whether you pick or skin doves, the intestines, crop, etc., should be removed and the carcasses placed in plastic bags and put on ice immediately.

When you get home with the doves, wash them carefully, pick out all shot, feathers, and other extraneous material, and place the birds in salty water to soak overnight in the refrigerator. Even doves that are to be frozen for later use should be soaked overnight in salty water.

Cooking

My favorite recipe for doves is quite simple, and no fancy wines or spices are needed.

Take thawed-out or fresh doves, spread out on waxed paper, salt and pepper to taste, then roll lightly in flour. Put doves in iron skillet with about 1/4 inch of hot cooking oil and brown on both sides at about 350 degrees. Drain oil, except for 3 or 4 tablespoons. Turn heat very low, about a simmer, cover with lid, and simmer for 45 to 60 minutes. Doves fried in this manner are my favorite eating game bird. You can make gravy with the drippings in the skillet after removing the doves.

A variation of this recipe that we occasionally try is to pour either mushroom or celery soup over the doves after draining off the excess cooking oil, and they will make their own gravy.

Another variation is to add 1 teaspoon of Worcestershire sauce to the remaining oil after draining.

When we have fried doves at our house, we usually have a side dish of cheese-grits to go along with the vegetables and green salad. Our recipe for cheese grits is: Add 1 pound of processed cheese to 3 cups of cooked grits. Melt cheese in, stirring slowly until desired consistency is reached. Serve cheese-grits hot with any type of wild game or fish. Another good fried dove recipe is as follows:

Fried Dove Supreme

6 doves
1/2 cup butter
1 cup of dry wine
1/4 cup minced onion
2 tablespoons chopped celery leaves
1/2 teaspoon tarragon
Salt and pepper to taste
Split doves. Saute in butter until lightly browned or about 5 minutes. Add wine, onion, celery leaves, salt and pepper. Cover and simmer over low heat for 20 minutes. Add tarragon and simmer, uncovered, for 15 minutes.

There are many other good dove recipes, and I have tried and like the following change of pace; but being a farm-raised Southern boy, I still prefer fried doves most of the time. The fried dove recipe is our own original recipe. The following recipes were taken from "The Outdoor Cook's Bible" by Joseph D. Bates, Jr. This publication has recipes for a variety of wild game and fish, many of which I have tried and found to be well-recommended.

Broiled Doves

10 doves
1/2 cup sugar
1 cup soy sauce
2 garlic cloves, crushed
Mix the last three ingredients in a large bowl and marinate the birds in this mixture for 3 to 4 hours. Broil the birds over a coal fire, basting them occasionally with the marinade. When the leg bones can be twisted away from the meat, the birds should be done. Cook them very slowly over moderate heat. (This recipe is good for most upland game, if you like the flavor of this marinade.)

Doves With Rice

10 doves
1/4 cup oil
1 onion, sliced
1 can tomato paste
1 can tomato sauce
1 can stewed tomatoes
1/2 cup red wine
Salt and pepper to taste
Pinch of thyme
Pinch of sage
1 cup uncooked rice (or more)
Brown the doves in the oil. Add the onion and saute it until slightly brown. Then add the

Look around for fun fabrics

By JOANNE SCHREIBER

If you like to sew for your children, you're probably an expert at searching out fabrics that are inexpensive, sturdy, washable, attractive and easy to sew.

You're probably pretty good, too, at fabric-shopping in other sections of the store—in the household linens department, for instance, where attractive sheets and bedspreads in generous widths are often on sale.

One of our talented readers made her daughters the matching robes shown today, using Springmaid's Knob Hill spread. It is woven in a terrycloth gingham—the white checks have a terrycloth loop, and the colored checks are flat. It's as easy-care as a towel, but not nearly as heavy, and it seemed the ideal material for bath-and-beach robes for two little ladies.

These robes were made of two patterns—one selected for its kimono neckline and the other for its cut-in-one sleeve which required no sleeve-setting. Any cute robe pattern would do, so long as it doesn't have too much construction. And it's so easy to cut out the robes when the fabric is so wide! Leftover material was used for a table cover, to make an attractive and thoroughly practical coordinated bedroom outfit.

A single spread would make a nice robe for mom, too; and consider the possibilities of kitchen curtains, summer cushion covers and other household articles. The moral? Don't do all your shopping in the fabric section—look at sheets, spreads and even towels with an eye to other uses.

Birthday is celebrated

On August 31 Nichole Carole Gibson was given a birthday party in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Gibson. Nicki was one year old.

The table and the cake were decorated with a clown theme, during the party a birthday candle from Germany was burning. Nicki opened her gifts after which cake and punch were served.

Two special guests at the party were Miss Dusty Hall and Stephen Vines. About 10 people attended.

HELEN BOTTLE

This Baby Is an Embarrassment
Helen And Sue:

I'm a pregnant teenager, but that's not the trouble.

My problem is the boy's mother and father. They don't seem to care about their grandchild-to-be. Or me either. They were real nice to me before I got pregnant, and even afterwards, they used to call—until they found out they won't have to pay the hospital bills, doctor, etc. (My folks' insurance takes care of that, mostly.)

It's bad enough that the father and I won't be married, but the grandparents don't have to be so snobbish, like I don't exist.

What's with them? —H.A.T.

H.A.T.:

You can't expect to be treated as a daughter-in-law when you aren't. For many people, blood ties are only thick when they're legal; don't wish for the impossible. —SUE

Dear H:

You omitted several important items—which should concern you much more than the attitude of non-in-laws: Will you give the baby up for adoption? Have you split up with the father? Can you put aside what's over and get back to growing up?

Face it, you're a great embarrassment to your ex-boy friend's parents, who no doubt wish they could snap their fingers and you'd disappear. —HELEN

P.S. We're sorry you had to learn about human nature the hard way, and sorry we can't soften the blow. —HELEN AND SUE

Dear Rap:

I want to die! You've got to help.

You don't know what its like, having coarse hair. My hair is almost like a wire mop. Kids call me "Electric Shock." No matter what I use, it won't lie down.

My eyebrows don't match my hair color. They're lots darker and look terrible. And my seat is so fat it sticks straight out. I'm always watching what I wear so I don't look like a monkey.

To top it off, my parents are past 55, and I feel so embarrassed because kids think they're my grandparents sometimes.

I'm just an ugly mistake. Nobody else has all these problems. Other girls have great hair and slim fannies and their parents are with-it too.

Help! —KAY

Dear Kay:

Those "other girls" may have problems too, for what YOU see as great hair, slim hips and hep parents can seem to them: "the frizzies," pipestem legs, "competing" mothers, and fathers who think they're God's gift to teenage girls.

But the smart ones don't let "imperfections" get them down. Instead, they consider them challenges—things to change, if possible, or if not, perhaps a change in attitude...as in the case of your parents: since when is age 55 shameful? —HELEN

Dear Kay:

I know a girl with course hair, heavy dark eyebrows and a funny fanny. You probably do too as she's leading actress—and beautiful! She accents the positive, and who notices the few "negatives"? Fans are too busy admiring her great personality, gorgeous eyes, expressive mouth, that awkward, appealing "little girl" walk, etc.

A good hairdresser can take the "shock" out of your "mop," mainly with the right cut and conditioner.

Tweeze your eyebrows into shape—and be glad they're dark—that means heavy dark lashes too, right?

If your rear end sticks out, try a girdle. It won't kill you.

Above all, stop being prejudiced against yourself and your family! Remember, you're special—there's no one exactly like you in the whole world, and you've got a lot more good points than bad, (almost everybody has!) so start counting them! —SUE 7 for Spitz!

MUNICH (AP) — It was a gloriously climactic day for America's aquadulds, what with Mark Spitz' magnificent seventh and triumphs by Mike Burton, Karen Moe and Melissa Belote—but the lustre of all that U.S. gold was tarnished by the spectre of doping charges.

Rick DeMont, an asthmatic 16-year-old from San Rafael, Calif., who had already won the 400-meter freestyle last Friday, was ready to go for gold and improve his own world record in the gruelling 1,500 meters.

But only minutes before the race, DeMont was "medically ejected" for having taken Ephedrine, an asthma medication. It's presence was discovered in a routine urine test after his victory in the 400.

"I can't say anything," DeMont said, fighting—and failing—to hold back the tears. "I put it all on my forms. I did everything anybody asked. I have nothing else to say."

With DeMont out of the race,

Burton of Sacramento, Calif., streaked to victory, shattering DeMont's record with a clocking of 15:52.58.

"I'm sorry Rick wasn't in the race," said Burton, who finished nearly six seconds ahead of Australian Graham Wind-eatt, "and I'm not saying I would have beaten him ..."

The ejection from the 1,500 was not, however, the major letdown faced by DeMont. He faced possible loss of his 400 gold as well. The International Olympic Committee's Executive Committee and U.S. swimming officials were meeting overnight and a decision was expected early today.

The German word for the spectacular water hole here is "Schwimmhalle," but it could just as properly be called the "Spitzhalle."

The 22-year-old torpedo from Carmichael, Calif., an Indiana University dental student, owns it outright. Seven times he got into the water and seven times he came out a world record-breaking winner.

Bulletin

MUNICH (AP) — Cuban heavyweight Teofilo Stevenson scored a technical knockout in the third round today over Duane Bobick of Bowls, Minn., ending the United States' eight-year domination of Olympic heavyweight boxing.

The referee stopped the fight with 1:26 remaining.

The finale on Monday was in the 400-meter medley relay. Ahead of him, backstroke Mike Stamm of San Diego and breaststroke specialist Tom Bruce of Sunnyvale, Calif., gave the American team the barest of leads over East Germany.

Then Spitz hit the water for his 100-meter butterfly leg—and by the time freestyle anchorman Jerry Heidenreich took over for the final 100, the U.S. kids had an unbeatable 12 or 13-foot lead. The quartet was clocked in a world-record 3:48.16, beating out silver-winning East Germany and third-place Canada.

Miss Moe, of Santa Clara, Calif., led a 1-2-3 U.S. sweep in the women's 200-meter butterfly with her world-record mark of 2:15.57. Lynn Colella of Seattle took the silver and Ellie Daniel of Elkins Park, Pa., the bronze.

Miss Belote, of Springfield, Va., who earlier had won the 100-meter backstroke, became a double gold medalist with her 200 backstroke triumph in 2:19.19, also a world record. Susie Atwood of Long Beach, Calif., was second ahead of Donna Marie Gurr of Canada.

If all this "U.S. swimmers sweep ..." and "new world record ..." business seems repetitive, it is. The U.S. men, for example, grabbed 10 of the 18 golds available and took eight silvers and eight bronzes. And the women won eight of 14 golds, plus five silvers and four bronzes. In all, world marks were set in 23 of 29 events and no record from Mexico City's 1968 Games—not one—was left intact.

Valery Borzov, who earlier won the 100-meter dash, became the first non-American to sweep the sprints as he won the 200 meters in 19.99 seconds, beating Larry Black of Miami to the wire by a fifth of a second.

Oliver pinned it on Phillies with 10-0 victory

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Al Oliver stayed up half the night diapering the baby, then really pinned it on the Philadelphia Phillies.

"I'm thinking about getting up with the baby every night from now on," Oliver joked after spanking two 3-run homers that started the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 10-0, 5-1 doubleheader sweep Monday.

Oliver's swats in the opener were fashioned despite the agonies of little sleep, the typical tribulations of a young father.

"I was really tired before the doubleheader started," said the Pirates' All-Star centerfielder. "My month-old daughter, Fe-lisa, put on her crying act Sunday night."

After sharing the hero's act with Steve Blass' five-hitter in the first game, Oliver took a backseat to Bruce Kison in the second. The baby-faced right-hander completed Pittsburgh's ninth doubleheader sweep this year with a five-hitter.

"You hear so much about our hitters that people forget that we have one of the best pitching staffs in baseball," said Oliver.

"The only reason that we don't have a 20-game winner is that our pitchers don't start every four or five games," noted Willie Stargell, whose 33rd homer boosted his major league-leading RBI total of 108 and helped the Pirates win the second game.

Pittsburgh's National League-leading East margin jumped to an out-of-sight 13 games after the Labor Day activities. The Chicago Cubs, second in the East, lost a game after splitting a doubleheader with the New York Mets—winning the first one 2-0 and losing the second, 7-2.

The West-leading Cincinnati Reds split a doubleheader with the Los Angeles Dodgers and improved their margin to 8½ games. After the Dodgers won the first game 6-5, the Reds came back to win the nightcap 8-4 and move up a half-game on Houston. The Astros lost 6-5 to the Atlanta Braves.

In the other National League games, the Montreal Expos trimmed the St. Louis Cardinals 1-0 in the first game of a doubleheader before losing the second, 8-7 and the San Diego Padres tripped the San Francisco Giants 1-0.

In the American League, the Boston Red Sox stopped the Milwaukee Brewers 2-0 in the first game of a twin bill, then lost the second 6-2; the Minnesota Twins took a doubleheader from the Chicago White Sox, 2-1 and 4-0; the Oakland A's and California Angels split a pair—the A's taking the first game, 10-5 and the Angels the nightcap, 2-1; the Baltimore Orioles defeated the New York Yankees 4-3 in the opener of two and the Yankees won the nightcap 5-2; the Detroit Tigers clipped the Cleveland Indians 2-1 and the Kansas City Royals defeated the Texas Rangers 4-3.

Ferguson Jenkins, bidding for his sixth straight 20-game-winning season, hurled a four-hitter for his 19th victory as Chicago took the opener from New York. The Mets won the second game, featured by Gary Gentry's first victory since July 20.

Manny Mota doubled home Bill Russell from second base with two out in the ninth inning to give Los Angeles its first-game triumph. Cincinnati came back with a 12-hit offense in the nightcap led by Tony Perez' two singles and a double. The first of a three-game series between Arkansas and USC. The Razorbacks travel to Los Angeles, in 1973 for game No. 2 and the competition returns to Little Rock, the following year. Each of the contests are season openers.

Arkansas has a win and a loss in competition against PAC-8 members. The Razorbacks lost to Stanford, 34-28 in 1970, and Arkansas defeated California, 51-20, in 1971. The Razorbacks had never played a West Coast team until the NCAA permitted its members to schedule an additional (eleventh) game in 1970.

Saturday's game will be Arkansas's third consecutive opening performance against a PAC-8 team. The Razorbacks were defeated by Stanford, 34-28, in the 1970 season opener at Little Rock, and Arkansas downed California, 51-20, last year in the first game at War Memorial Stadium.

In 15 previous games against SWC competition, the Trojans have established an 11-3-1 record. USC defeated Rice, 24-0, last year in Houston. The Owls and Trojans began the SWC-USC series in Los Angeles with a 7-7 tie in 1947. USC defeated Rice the following year 7-0 on the West Coast. The Trojans have had four victories over Texas (19-7 in 1955 at Los Angeles, 44-20 in 1956 at Austin, 10-6 in 1966 at Austin and 17-13 in 1967 at Los Angeles), two wins against SMU (21-16 in 1961 at Los Angeles, 33-3 in 1962 at Dallas), and defeated Texas A&M 31-7 in Los Angeles in 1964. Baylor is even in the Trojan series, USC won 18-7 at Los Angeles in 1969 and the Bears were victorious at Waco, 35-14, in 1960. TCU is the only SWC member holding a winning edge against the Trojans, the Horned Frogs lost, 28-26, in 1961, but won the last two games in their series, 20-7 in 1964 and 7-6 in 1960. Each of these games was played in Los Angeles.

Traditionally, Arkansas has enjoyed much success in opening games. Razorbacks have won 58, lost 12 and had three ties in first appearances. Each of the tie games were scoreless, two were against Hendrix College, 1920 and 1932, but the first was against Haskell Institute in 1907.

Arkansas won its first varsity game in 1894 with a 42-0 victory in Fayetteville over Ft. Smith

High School. Drury College, the Razorbacks' first collegiate opponent in 1896, replaced Ft. Smith in 1896 and Arkansas defeated the Springfield, Missouri, team 17-0. The Razorbacks largest opening game victory margin was their 100-0 win over Southwest Missouri State in 1911 Arkansas's last season opening victory was its 51-20 advantage over California at Little Rock.

Coach Frank Broyles said he did not know whether Irwin would be able to play in the game, which will open the season for the two teams. He had not received a report from the doctor.

A steady rain fell during the Razorbacks' light practice session, but Broyles didn't appear to mind.

"The cool and rain brought out the enthusiasm," he said. He said the Razorbacks also needed a rainy practice to get some experience with handling a wet ball.

Senior fullback Mike Saint continued to be held out of practice with an injured big toe. "I don't know whether he'll practice this week at all, or play," Broyles said. "It's just hard to tell. Those big toes will fool you."

Broyles made a special reference to Southern Cal after the workout. "The people of Arkansas should feel proud that a team like Southern Cal, with their prestige, is coming down here to play us," he said. "It will give our Arkansas fans a chance to see a great football team."

Razorbacks open season

Arkansas opens the 1972 football season Saturday, Sept. 9, against the University of Southern California. Kickoff is set for 7:30 p.m. in Little Rock's War Memorial Stadium.

The game is expected to attract a crowd of at least 54,446. This War Memorial Stadium record was set by Razorback fans last year against Texas and Texas A&M. The University of Arkansas Athletic Department's ticket office has not sold cross-the-counter tickets to this game, all tickets have been purchased by mail ordering. Southern California did not return any of its 5,000-ticket allotment. There is a possibility a limited number of tickets will be placed on sale at War Memorial Stadium late in the week if University of Arkansas students at Fayetteville do not claim all of their allotment. However, students were purchasing their tickets at a fast pace Thursday and Friday (August 31-September 1).

Frank Broyles will begin his 15th season in charge of the Razorback program against USC. He has established a 112-37-2 record since 1956 and led the Razorbacks to six Southwest Conference championships and nine bowl appearances. Broyles set a tenure record for Arkansas coaches last year, Fred Thomsen set the old standard for a head coach at 13 years from 1929-1941.

Trojan Head Coach John McKay begins his 13th season at USC. He has established an 88-38-6 record the past 12 seasons, won two national championships ('62, '67) and six Pacific-Eight Conference titles. His teams have finished in the Top Ten seven of the past 10 seasons and have not lost to Notre Dame in their last five games.

During the last 10 seasons, Arkansas has won 83, lost 23 and had two ties under Broyles' leadership, and USC has established an 80-22-5 record with McKay in charge.

Southern California established a 6-4-1 season record and tied for third in the PAC-8 with three wins, two losses and one tie. Arkansas, second in the SWC with a 5-1-1 record, had an 8-2-1 mark at the end of the year and was defeated by Tennessee, 14-13, in the Liberty Bowl.

Saturday's game will be the first of a three-game series between Arkansas and USC. The Razorbacks travel to Los Angeles, in 1973 for game No. 2 and the competition returns to Little Rock, the following year. Each of the contests are season openers.

Arkansas has a win and a loss in competition against PAC-8 members. The Razorbacks lost to Stanford, 34-28 in 1970, and Arkansas defeated California, 51-20, in 1971. The Razorbacks had never played a West Coast team until the NCAA permitted its members to schedule an additional (eleventh) game in 1970.

Saturday's game will be Arkansas's third consecutive opening performance against a PAC-8 team. The Razorbacks were defeated by Stanford, 34-28, in the 1970 season opener at Little Rock, and Arkansas downed California, 51-20, last year in the first game at War Memorial Stadium.

In 15 previous games against SWC competition, the Trojans have established an 11-3-1 record. USC defeated Rice, 24-0, last year in Houston. HOPE (ARK.) STAR

Packers filling up holes

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — At least on paper, the Green Bay Packers have filled many of the holes responsible for their fall to a 4-8-2 record last season, their worst since 1958.

But their apparent improvement may be offset by one of the National Football League's toughest schedules. It includes Dallas, San Francisco, Washington, Cleveland, Oakland and two games with Minnesota. All but perennially tough Oakland made the playoffs in 1971.

The rebuilding Packers have one of the NFL's youngest teams, a source of concern to Coach Dan Devine.

"I'm more and more convinced of one thing—to win in this league you've got to have experience," he said. "That's much more important than I thought it was."

Devine said progress has been made to correct some weak areas of a year ago, but that other areas need more work.

"The passing game has shown some improvement," he said. "Our pass rush is still spotty."

Four of the defeats in Devine's first year as coach were by margins of a touchdown or less. Some of those games could go the Packers' way this year because of Chester Marcol, their second-round draft choice and a placekicker of awesome potential.

Marcol, a Polish immigrant, kicked eight field goals of 50 yards or more—including a 62-yarder—and 104 consecutive extra points at Hillsdale, Mich., College.

The Packers finished second from the bottom in the NFC in passing last year, but quarterback Scott Hunter showed progress toward the end of his rookie season. He completed 75 of 163 passes for 1,210 yards and seven touchdowns, and most of the 17 intercepted came in the first half of the season.

Behind Hunter is rookie Jerry Tagge, a Green Bay native and first round draft choice who led Nebraska to the national collegiate championship. Both are expected to profit under Bart Starr, the former brilliant quarterback who retired as a player this summer but has stayed on to coach the quarterbacks.

Carroll Dale, who still has superb moves at age 34, is set at one wide receiver. Sam Dickerson, who spent his rookie year on the taxi squad, rookie Leland Glass and second year man Dave Davis are pushing John Spill for the other spot.

Rich McGeorge has good speed for his 235 pounds and could become one of the league's best tight ends. Backup Len "Graveyard" Garrett is an excellent blocker.

Guard Gale Gillingham is the best of an interior line that includes tackles Francis Peay and Dick Himes, center Ken Bowman and guard Bill Lueck.

The runners are led by John Brockington, whose 1,106 yards on the ground was a league record for rookies. Dave Hampton is explosive and a superb blocker, but must overcome a tendency to fumble.

MacArthur Lane, a 220-pounder who rushed for 977 yards with St. Louis two years ago, was obtained for Donny Anderson in an exchange of running backs.

Anderson's pass catching ability may be missed, but Lane's blocking could make Brockington and Hampton even more effective.

Devine hopes better conditioning and more experience will improve a pass rush that dumped opposing quarterbacks only 19 times last year. Clarence Williams and Alden Roche are the defensive ends and Mike McCoy and Bob Brown the tackles.

Vikings upend Oilers

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) — The offense of the Minnesota Vikings stood up to be recognized.

The offense of the Houston Oilers brought the wrong shoes, and had trouble keeping its footing.

The Vikings, led by comeback efforts, rolled up 399 yards and subdued the Oilers 28-14 Monday night in a National Football League preseason game.

Houston Coach Bill Peterson admitted after the game the Oilers had brought soccer shoes from Texas to play on a Metropolitan Stadium field that became slippery after a brief pregame rain.

"We weren't wearing the right shoes," said Oiler quarterback Dan Pastorini, whose touchdown passes of 17 yards to Charlie Joiner in the first period and 15 yard to Alvin Reed in the second gave Houston a 14-10 lead at the intermission.

With Bob Lee passing for 207 yards, the Vikings took a 16-10 lead into the fourth period on field goals by Fred Cox.

Fran Tarkenton came into the game, reeled off a 26-yard run and set up Cox' fourth field goal of the game in the fourth period, this time from 14 yards out. Tarkenton then finished off the Oilers by marching the Vikings 93 yards for a touchdown—a 39-yard pass play to Bill Brown on a third down-and-one situation.

The Houston-Minnesota game topped off a five-day Labor Day weekend that saw all NFL clubs in action.

Memphis vying for victory

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Pitching-rich Memphis goes after its second American Legion World Series title in the last five years tonight.

Two games scheduled Monday were postponed by rain. Today's forecast was for less than 20 per cent chance of rain, with partly cloudy skies and mild temperatures.

Both El Cerrito and Ballwin have lost one, meaning either will have to beat Memphis two straight to win the title.

Lay working on franchise

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Texas millionaire Herman Lay is turning his attention from potato chips to pro football.

Lay, who started the firm that is now the Frito Lay Co., disclosed Monday that he is working to obtain a pro football franchise for Memphis.

"Yes, I want an expansion team in Memphis for quite a number of reasons," said the Dallas executive, who is the largest stockholder in Pepsi Co., Inc. Pepsi includes the Pepsi Cola Co., Frito Lay and the Wilson Sporting Goods Co. He is chairman of the executive committee of the parent firm.

Lay, 62, reportedly has been a silent source behind the Memphis drive for a pro team since 1968. This was his first public disclosure of his interest.

"I've had a lifetime addiction to sports. My number one ambition was to be a professional athlete but I didn't have the great talent, and my father's selling instinct took over in me," he said.

Lay grew up in Wayne County, Tennessee. He played professional baseball for a year in North Carolina.

Lay's announcement preceded a meeting Wednesday and Thursday in New York concerning National Football League expansion. NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle will discuss the situation with representatives of four cities seeking expansion franchises. Attending the meeting will be representatives of Tampa, Fla.; Seattle, Wash.; Phoenix, Ariz., and Memphis.

'Nonpolitical trip' is planned by president

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — "Nonpolitical trips" by presidents seeking re-election are almost as old as the country — and Richard Nixon is making one today, to San Francisco.

Nixon decided to stop in the bay city en route back to Washington to meet aboard a ferryboat with members of his Citizens' Advisory Committee on Environmental Quality.

The focal point of Nixon's San Francisco stopover is his proposal to create a Golden Gate National Recreation Area — a plan awaiting approval by Congress.

Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said that because Nixon would be wearing his presidential hat during the day and attending to official duties, the taxpayers rather than the Republican party would pay for his round-about flight back to Washington.

When Nixon flew to California the day after last month's Republican National Convention, the GOP picked up the tab because his schedule en route had heavy political overtones.

The San Francisco schedule calls for no public appearances, airport rallies or other things normally associated with overt campaigning.

The Environmental Quality Committee is headed by Laurence S. Rockefeller and includes pioneer aviator Charles A. Lindbergh, entertainer Arthur Godfrey and former astronaut Frank Borman.

The President and Mrs. Nixon were joining committee members aboard the ferry appropriately named "Golden Gate" for a brief meeting.

The Nixons and committee members planned to be aboard the vessel for 35 minutes, presumably taking time to view some of the waterside acreage Nixon wants to turn into a park.

The President and First Lady spent a quiet Labor Day at their San Clemente home — at least until evening when they invited reporters and photographers who cover their activities to attend a poolside cocktail party.

Railway to China attacked by jets

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Air Force jets attacked North Vietnam's northwest railroad to China Monday and destroyed two radar stations used to direct surface-to-air missiles at American planes, the U.S. Command announced today.

On the ground, North Vietnamese forces mounted their third attack since last Friday against South Vietnamese bases in the central highlands. The Saigon command said the assault was beaten back and claimed 130 North Vietnamese were killed, 100 of them by air strikes. Government losses were five killed and 13 wounded, the command said.

The U.S. Command reported that American jet fighter-bombers carried out more than 220 strikes across North Vietnam Monday, with the northwest railroad and the radar stations the major targets.

The pre-dawn North Vietnamese attack in the central highlands hit the Bau Can base camp, about 12 miles southwest of Pleiku city. The position, manned by about 100 government militiamen, was first shelled then attacked by infantrymen.

Lt. Col. Do Viet, a spokesman for the Saigon command, noted increasing North Vietnamese pressure within a 25-mile radius of Pleiku City, the capital of the Central Highlands.

Viet said, however, the objectives of the North Vietnamese were not immediately clear. He said he did not know whether Pleiku City would be a target.

On Monday, North Vietnamese forces overran a ranger border camp 23 miles west of Pleiku and sent the Montagnard tribesmen defending the camp fleeing in all directions. Scores are still missing.

Trevino has 'game together'

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP) — Lee Trevino has not done well in two previous shots at the World Series of Golf, but he goes into this weekend's big showdown with the momentum of a tournament victory and "my game together."

Trevino warmed up for his Akron, Ohio, tourney against Jack Nicklaus, Gary Player and Gay Brewer by winning the $25,000 first prize in the Greater Hartford Open in a one-hole playoff with Lee Elder.

"I have the momentum," said Trevino. "I'm in the best shape I've ever been in. My legs are strong. I'm hitting the ball farther than ever before. I've got my game together."

Trevino had to drop a 12-foot birdie putt on the 72nd hole to get into the playoff with Elder and then sink a dramatic 16-footer on the first sudden-death hole to win the $125,000 Hartford tournament.

Elder, attempting to score his first victory and thus become the first black to qualify for the prestigious Masters Golf Tournament, could have won in regulation had his five-foot birdie putt on the 72nd hole not hung on the lip.

"You wonder what you have to do to win," said a dejected Elder, who won $14,300.

Trevino said he felt like "a heel" for taking the victory away from Elder.

"I know how much this means to him, with the Masters and all," said Trevino. "I felt good that I had won, and then bad. But I wouldn't let my wife beat me if I could help it."

Both Elder and Trevino wouldn't have been in a playoff had it not been for the disaster that struck tour sophomore Ralph Johnston of Garden City, N.Y., on the fourth to the last hole.

Johnston, a co-leader with Curtis Sifford after 54 holes, scored a four-under-par 31 on the front nine and birdied the 14th to take a three stroke lead.

But his lead evaporated when he triple-bogeyed the par four 15th when he sprayed his drive into the woods, took two shots to get back onto the fairway and then three-putted from 15 feet.

Trevino and Elder finished regulation play with 15-under-par 269s, the lowest 72-hole total on the tour this year.

Johnston and Deane Beman, who missed a four-foot birdie putt on the 72nd hole, tied for third, one stroke back, and Sifford, who struggled to a one-over-par 72 on the last day, finished tied for fifth place with Homero Blancas at 273.

AN OPEN LETTER TO AUTO DRIVERS

Dear Drivers:

Today my 6 year old son started another round of schooling. At 8:00 this morning he swaggered out the front door with the world in his pocket, his well worn ball cap was set at a cocky angle. His ball glove was on one hand and one lone book was juggling under his arm. What do you think was on his mind? "See you, Mom," he called, "Hope I get to bat before the bell rings." Then he disappeared around the corner. My words of caution, "Watch out for cars", barely caught up with him. For 8 years his father and I have guarded his safety as best we could. When he started crawling, I put safety devices on the electric outlets. When he walked, up went scissors, pointed objects, and all items poisonous if taken internally. To insure safe summer play for him in his early years, we built a poor but adequate fence around the back yard.

We taught him safety as best we could. . . as well as you can teach a child. We have told him never to cross a street except at an intersection and then to wait until the light was right and the first car had stopped. But you know how children are. They can be watching when they start across but be flying a jet plane over the Pacific by the time they reach the middle. They can forget streets ever exist and dart from behind a parked automobile for no reason at all.

When my son walks out our front door now, his safety is in your hands. . . in YOUR hands. You wouldn't hurt him, would you? Please drive carefully. You can never guess what a child will do.

Please don't run over my little boy.

Pleadingly,
A Loving Mother

LINES, LINES AND MORE LINES. Above, it is women's lib with a militant Balkan twist as members of the Albanian women's militia keep perfect step on parade in Tirana. While in Bork, West Germany...

... police cadets demonstrate how to get a class moving—have each and every one carry his own chair. And in Baku, the Soviet Union, it's not the party but a tiny tots' line that is formed. The group found that hanging together is the safest way to avoid getting lost separately while taking an outing in the park.

People in the News

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP) — "Bobby has a check for his prize," says an aide to Bobby Fischer, the new world chess champion. "He'll probably cash it and spend it all. But he'll need a wheelbarrow to take it away in."

Fischer's entourage left Reykjavik Monday, leaving behind the American chess genius and his $78,125 in prize money from the Icelandic Chess Federation.

Fischer and Boris Spassky, the Russian champion Fischer defeated, are also splitting $122,500 in prize money put up by British financier, James D. Slater.

Fischer's share from Slater is $76,562.50, making his total purse $154,687.50. Spassky's loser's purse came to $92,812.50, counting the $45,937.50 he will get from Slater.

Fischer plans to stay in Reykjavik for at least a week. Spassky plans to return to Moscow on Thursday.

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP) — Edith Irving said when formally being taken into custody: "I surrender because I hope and believe that I will be given a fair trial."

Mrs. Irving, who entered a Zurich jail Monday, is charged in connection with a $650,000 fraud stemming from the Howard Hughes autobiography hoax of her writer-husband, Clifford Irving.

Authorities say that under the complex Swiss system the formal indictment on fraud, forgery and counterfeiting charges may not be drawn up until next year. They added, however, that the two months she served in the United States in connection with the case would be deducted from her sentence if convicted here.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Mayor William Donald Schaefer got a first-hand look at crime in Baltimore when a youth ripped the watch off his wrist while he was stopped in his car at a traffic light.

The incident occurred Monday night while the mayor was driving his private car near his West Baltimore home. Schaefer, who was not hurt, gave chase to a youthful suspect and was later joined by a patrolman, but no arrests were made.

Fans leave festival on Bull Island

BULL ISLAND, Ill. (AP) — Thousands of tired and disillusioned rock music fans deserted this scarred peninsula early today, leaving behind tons of trash ranging from makeshift shelters to panties.

The last band at the Labor Day weekend Soda Pop Festival packed its equipment shortly after midnight, a few hours after promoters had left.

Between 25,000 to 35,000 fans remained at that point, still waiting for performances by headlined groups that were promised, but never appeared.

Police estimated nearly 300,000 young people flocked to the 900-acre island in the Wabash River between Indiana and Illinois for the three-day celebration. Promoters said they had expected no more than 75,000.

The homeward trek caused a mammoth traffic jam.

Although the site is in Illinois, the only access is a one-lane Posey County, Ind., road.

Indiana State Police said they were able to handle the bumper-to-bumper traffic by routing it directly onto the four-lane Interstate 64 cutting across southern Indiana and Illinois.

Police said the fans caused few problems off the island.

PARIS (AP) — President Georges Pompidou has announced that he will make an official trip to China at the invitation of the Peking government.

Speaking to French journalists at Elysee Palace, his official residence, Pompidou declined Monday to say specifically when he would make the trip. But he said it would be in the near future.

Today's George Gooden hand illustrates the loser-on-loser play. South is playing a very normal four-heart contract. It also looks mighty easy.

If West holds all four trumps, South won't be able to make the contract because he has no way to avoid the loss of two diamonds and one spade.

Otherwise, if left to himself, he can simply draw trumps and concede his three losing tricks.

Unfortunately for this simple plan, the defense leads first. West opens the eight of diamonds in response to his partner's diamond overcall and East quickly takes

Boyleing it down

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Half of all Americans have lost their teeth by the time they are 65. The biting force of teeth declines from 300 pounds a square inch among the young to only 50 pounds in the elderly.

One thing you don't have to worry about a shortage of is salt. If the salt from the oceans and seas were removed and spread evenly over the surface of the earth, the National Geographic Society says, it would form a layer more than 500 feet deep.

Does the realization that about one out of every four Americans is unbalanced make you stop and think? Think of your three closest friends. If they seem okay, then you're the one.

Quotable notables: "Dentopedology is the science of opening your mouth and putting your foot in it. I've been practicing it for years." —Philip, Duke of Edinburgh.

Oh, say, can you see: More than a tenth of the states do not test the color vision of motorists, half do not check depth perception, and more than three-fifths do not check side vision.

Science and medicine are two fields not yet well integrated. Only one black is a member of the National Academy of Science, and from 1876 to 1969 only 614 black Americans received a Ph.D. in science. About one white in 560 gets a medical doctor's degree, but only one black in 3,800 does.

Laugh of the week: Did you hear about the fellow who gave up smoking for his health and started chewing toothpicks? He got the Dutch elm disease.

Convict uprising is ended

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — A five-hour uprising by 16 convicts at the Vroom Building of Trenton State Prison ended peacefully early today after state officials agreed to listen to inmate grievances.

The settlement was reached in negotiations between leaders of the rebellion and Robert L. Clifford, director of the state Department of Institutions and Agencies.

Clifford remained outside the building, talking to the inmates through a wiremesh window.

The inmates assaulted the two guards who were escorting them, he said, and were joined by the 14 other prisoners on the first floor, all out of their cells for a recreation period.

two diamond tricks and continues the suit.

If South ruffs this third diamond with a low trump, West will overruff. If South ruffs high, West will eventually collect a trick with his jack of trumps. Either way, South will still have to lose a spade trick later on.

What, if anything, can South do about this situation?

He can use the loser-on-loser technique and discard a low spade on the third diamond. This play leaves South in full control for the rest of the hand. Dummy is ready to ruff a fourth diamond lead and any lead allows South to draw trumps and make the rest of the tricks.

The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
1 ♠	1 ♠	Pass	1 ♠
Pass	2 ♣	Pass	3 ♣
Pass	3 ♣	Pass	?

You, South, hold:

♠ 8 7 4 3 ♥ 2 ♦ A K 9 4 3 ♣ 7 6 2

What do you do now?

A—Bid three no-trump. You aren't afraid of any suit but spades and a spade lead is unlikely.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB Medication Can Help

Stress may precipitate gout

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I have some questions concerning gout. Is a small hornlike growth on the edge of the outer ear sometimes a symptom of gout? Is severe pain in the middle toes ever a first indication? I know it can be hereditary. Is tension from emotional stress ever a contributing factor? Should a patient's diet be restricted? Is exercise beneficial? Is gout a symptom of a rundown condition or does the rundown condition follow gout? Is Benemid the usual medication? Is it usually successful?

Dear Reader — The hornlike growth at the edge of the ear is a deposit of uric acid. Gout is associated with an increased amount of uric acid in the bloodstream. The uric acid is a leftover product from the metabolism of certain types of proteins and it can also be formed by the body. In most instances an excessive formation in the body is the real culprit. The uric acid material is normally excreted in the urine, but if there's too much of it, it will accumulate and form a chemical salt which is deposited in various regions of the body. These deposits can cause bones to degenerate and can cause gouty arthritis. Small deposits of them in the edge of the ear are sometimes seen.

Many different joints can be involved in gout, including the middle toe. Classically, it is the big toe that becomes red, hot and swollen, but other joints or toes can also be affected.

Yes, there is a hereditary tendency for gout. Women often have high blood levels of uric acid without having the gouty attacks or gouty arthritis, and the men often have the actual arthritis or red, hot, painful toe. There are several things which can precipitate an attack. This includes overindulgence in rich foods and alcohol. Emotional stress can be a contributing factor.

If the person is overweight, he needs to lose weight, but cautiously, under a physician's supervision. I have seen patients on crash diets who have activated an attack of gout for the first time. If there's no need for a weight reduction, the most important point is to maintain a normal, sensible diet.

Some doctors like to eliminate certain foods, particularly organ meats like heart, liver and tongue, but usually altering the diet alone isn't sufficient to control gout or prevent attacks of gouty arthritis. For this purpose, most doctors today also give medicine. Benemid, which you mentioned, is one of these. So is colchicine or combinations of these drugs.

Regular exercise is good unless the person has had an acute attack of gouty arthritis and then it is out of the question. Excessive, unusual exertion can sometimes precipitate an attack of gout.

Individuals who are taking medicine regularly for gout should continue as long as their doctors want them to take it. It helps to prevent the deposits of the uric acid salt in the joints, which lead to joint destruction and arthritic changes. Even if a person feels well, he shouldn't abandon his medicine.

COMMISSIONER NOMINEES REQUESTED BY BRYANT

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Secretary of State Kelly Bryant Monday requested that county Democratic committees send him their nominees for appointment as third members to county boards of election commissioners.

The county boards, which are responsible for conducting the November general election, are composed of the county Republican chairman, the county Democratic chairman and a third person appointed by the state Board of Election Commissioners, which is to meet Sept. 18 to consider the nominees.

State law requires county committees of the majority party in the state to submit a list of five nominees no later than 50 days before the general election.

Bryant is secretary of the state board.
